FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTS

The new year started strong with a rebound in stock markets, lower interest rates and a rise in the euro against the dollar. From the investors' point of view, the latest news on the economy is developing positively. As expected, inflation is down in the United States and the euro zone. More importantly, price pressure is easing without much impact on economic growth so far. This development was favored by the reopening of China and the drop in commodity prices. The global manufacturing cycle should now turn around in the first quarter. Both the United States and the Eurozone are expected to experience milder and shorter recessions than expected.

Despite easing wage pressures in Europe, core commodity inflation remains at elevated levels. The improving economic outlook is positive in the short term, but means that central banks are struggling to contain underlying price pressures. In the absence of a sufficient adjustment in demand and a tightening of financial conditions, there is a risk that the current disinflationary period will be temporary and that inflation will pick up later. As expected, both the Fed and the ECB raised interest rates at their first meeting of the year.

The MSCI World Stock Index rose 5.8% in January. Growth stocks, in particular, rallied strongly as investors eagerly awaited interest rate cuts. Euro-denominated bonds gained around 2.0%.

During the month of January, we reduced our exposure to the MSCI USA Value ETF to take into account the recession which could affect the United States and the impact of the rate hike by the Fed on American equities. We reinvested the proceeds from the sale in a globally diversified ETF, the Xtrackers MSCI World, with a continued focus on Value stocks. We again had to reduce the position in the Blue Fund because it was approaching the maximum investment limit of 20% and risked causing a breach of investment rules. This is a purely technical correction.
